Donald Trump wants to put America back to work!!!

NBC, Donald Trump and Mark Burnett want to put America back to work with a new version of the popular original series “The Apprentice.” We're looking for people who have been affected by the decline in the job market.

Whether you are recently laid-off, long-term unemployed, a graduate with a daunting job search ahead of you, or simply someone who took a job that is just allowing you to survive this downturn, we encourage you to apply.

Interested candidates should attend an Open Call (info on nbc.com) or email Heather at heathercasting@yahoo.com and be sure to include a recent photo, brief bio, occupation history and how you have been affected by the recession.
